Tenured position (associate or full) in Modern Latin American Literatures and Cultures

<http://romancelanguages.nd.edu/>

The Department of Romance Languages and Literatures invites applications for a tenured position (associate or full) in Modern Latin American Literatures and Cultures. Though the field of specialty is open, we are particularly interested in scholars with a focus on Post-Independence Mexico or Andean Literatures and Cultures. The ideal candidate for this position will be a dynamic scholar who is engaged in innovative theoretical and multidisciplinary approaches, will have an established research profile commensurate with his/her rank, and will be committed to high-quality teaching at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

The University of Notre Dame is an affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to fostering a culturally diverse atmosphere for faculty, staff, and students. Women, persons with disabilities, and minorities are strongly encouraged to apply, as are those who are attracted to a university with a Catholic identity.

The University supports the needs of dual career couples and has a Dual Career Assistance Program in place to assist spouses and significant others with their job search.

Please send a letter of application and CV by October 22, 2014 to Professor Thomas F. Anderson, Chair, Department of Romance Languages and Literatures, University of Notre Dame, Notre Dame, IN 46556. You may also email your application to Linda Rule, senior administrative assistant to the chair, at linda.rule@nd.edu.
