Notre Dame Launches New Ph.D. program in Italian

The Ph.D. in Italian—led by Prof. Zygmunt Barański, director of graduate studies and the Notre Dame Professor of Dante and Italian Studies—aims to train students to meet the demands of teaching Italian culture across the curriculum while also promoting specialization in a certain area. "Our Italian program has long been recognized as one of the top programs of its kind in the country, so the establishment of the Ph.D. was a very logical step for us," said Thomas Anderson, chair of the Romance Languages and Literatures department.
