Student SPOTLIGHT Madeline Penn

International Economics (Spanish)

- Served as a teaching assistant for various courses.
- Studied abroad in Toledo, Spain.
- Selected for both Sigma Delta Phi and Phi Beta Kappa.
- Member of the Notre Dame marching band and play French horn in the Notre Dame Symphony Orchestra.
- Interned at the American Enterprise Institute.

"I would not have been able to carve my own path through college without the unique opportunities the Department of Romance Languages and Literatures offers! This is not only thanks to the International Economics major itself - for example, my first research experience came from a casual conversation in my International Economics seminar offered by the department - but the depth and variety of cultural analyses I have learned from so many exceptional professors has directly inspired and sustained my economic interests"

Student SPOTLIGHT Sara Rani Reddy

French Major

- French Gallery Teacher at Snite Museum of Art.
- Stamps Scholar and Glynn Family Honors Scholar.
- Selected for both Pi Delta Phi and Phi Beta Kappa.
- National Novel Writing Month 2020 Winner.
- Editor of the Notre Dame Journal of Undergraduate Research.

"The French professors in the Department of Romance Languages and Literatures have had the most positive impact on me. When I began my studies at the University of Notre Dame, I was a chemistry major intending to take a couple of French classes to fulfill my language requirement. However, it became clear to me in my first few French classes that the department had so much more for me to explore. I added French as a supplementary major, which I later upgraded to a full second major. My French professors were engaging and provided a nurturing environment, supporting me both in and outside of the classroom, which made learning French a highlight of my undergraduate studies. Overall, my experiences with the Department of Romance Languages and Literatures helped me pave the path to pursue my Masters in French after graduation."
